Teen Driving Safety

SAVE Chapter Highlights

Garner Magnet High School, Garner, NC

During May the Garner SAVE Chapter will sponsor a Safe and Sober Prom program and will ask students to pledge not to drink and drive for the event. "Remember Your Promise" pencils and "THINK" rubber bracelets will be handed out as reminders. They will be continuing the "THINK" theme for students to consider their choices and safety in their lives. Ms. Vickie Szarek advises the Chapter.

Port Gibson High School, Port Gibson, MS

The Port Gibson SAVE Chapter is promoting National Youth Traffic Safety Month with prom/graduation activities. Students in the driver's education course are creating a video designed to motivate, persuade and encourage teens not to text while driving and other distractions. Computer class students are designing a creative sign that focuses on encouraging everyone to wear a seat belt. And at the prom, brochures and flyers will be placed on cars reminding everyone to buckle up for safety. This SAVE Chapter is advised by Arzell McCoy.

Monthly Focus: Teen Driving Safety

SAVE has been working with teens to learn wise decision-making skills in regards to Teen Driver Safety. May is an important month to focus on driving safety with all the events surrounding the end of the school year such as graduation and prom.

The obstacles faced by today's students are daunting. More than previous generations, today's youth are faced with choices that have true life and death ramifications. Car crashes take a tremendous toll on the emotional and physical health and well-being of our nation's young people, parents, school officials, and law enforcement. One of the most valuable resources that schools and communities often overlook when addressing school and community youth safety is student involvement. By encouraging youth-led solutions, we can empower students to play a key role in fostering safe and smart decisions that will protect the health and lives of our nation's youth. Fortunately, students are willing to step up to the plate and actively participate in solving this complex problem.

National Youth Traffic Safety Month is May 1 - 31

May, National Teen Driver Safety Month, is an important month to focus on driving safety with all the events surrounding the end of the school year such as graduation and prom. At which time, teens are at greater risk as they celebrate the changes in their lives and ignore the dangers of drinking and/or texting and driving.

SAVE has partnered with the Allstate Foundation to address the Teen Safe Driving Issue. Teen Safe Driving Resources:

Vickie Szarek, 2012 SAVE Advisor of the Year: Be Safe and Have a Great Day!

“Drive safely!” How many times do we say that when we say good-bye to friends and relatives? A common phrase – but today it is far more meaningful for our teens out on the road. Distracted driving is the number one cause for teen accidents in the nation today. “Distracted driving” is a catch phrase for texting, eating, talking on the cell phone, talking to passengers, or listening to music while driving.

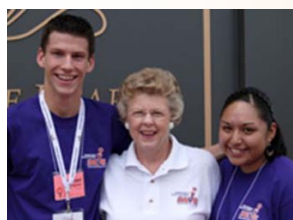

This month is dedicated to Teen Driving Safety. Get your chapter involved by providing distracted driving awareness to your school and community. Have your chapter educate their peers about safety belt usage – it only takes 1.5 seconds to latch the belt. Set up a seat belt checkpoint as teens leave the school parking lot and hand out Smarties candies (buckled) or Dumdums (unbuckled) depending on their findings. Gear up for prom night by promoting a safe, sober night with the theme of “don’t let prom be your last celebration.” See if you can borrow breathalyzers from local law enforcement for the evening to check as prom attendees come in and leave prom. Prepare now, for next May, to host a mock crash event to impress on the teens the consequences of drinking and driving. Partner with your local police force to host a “txting kills” event in which students attempt to drive a golf cart and text at the same time. Add in fatal vision goggles to get them to experience driving while under the influence. Put up posters around the school with the staggering statistics of teen accidents in their state – you may be able to get these from your local state department of transportation offices. Whatever your chapter does, the message is well worth the effort to save the teens in your school. Drive safely!

YABer Yak: National Youth Advisory Board Member: Lexi VanKoughnett, Cuthbertson High School, Waxhaw, NC

Almost every day we hear on the news about a teen getting in car accident. Whether the accident occurred while they were texting and driving or in some cases, drinking and driving, it is an issue that has a heavy presence in today’s society. As a society, we must do as much as we can to prevent these tragic events from happening. There are already laws in place about texting and driving and drinking and driving so what we really need is more awareness. There are many teen safe driving campaigns but they need more recognition and awareness. How can we do this? Spread the word. Get facts about teen safe driving and plaster them around your school. Create a teen safe driving activity or ask your school’s administration to hold a pre-prom assembly. Teenagers have so much of their life ahead of them and they should get to live it.

Help Tell the SAVE Story!

As part of Students Against Violence Everywhere (SAVE)’s 25th Anniversary in 2014, we would like to share how SAVE has made a difference in the lives of our students, advisors, schools and communities. We will be collecting personal stories from our SAVE friends and compiling them into an e-book. Your submission should be between 500 – 1000 words and include your unique account of how SAVE made a difference in your life, your school and/or your community.

Please complete the web form at ‘Help Tell the SAVE Story!’ or email your story to cwray@nationalsave.org. Illustrations, drawings, photographs, poems or whatever you feel helps to bring your SAVE story to life will also be accepted and can be emailed or mailed to 322 Chapanoke Rd., Suite 110, Raleigh, NC 27603.

Thank you for sharing your SAVE story!
