

Thomas Walters named Volunteer of the Year

WAKE FOREST — The 2016 Students Against Violence Everywhere (SAVE) awards were recently announced and a local business owner, Thomas Walters, was named as the national organization's Volunteer of the Year.

Walters was recognized nationally for his ongoing support and dedication to the nonprofit at its annual summit this month.

As the owner of three Allstate Insurance Agency offices located in Wake Forest, Wendell and Raleigh, Walters has served on SAVE's board of directors for six years, secured several community grants for the nonprofit and regularly donates items for the annual summit. He also speaks at many local school events promoting teen safe driving and overall youth engagement.
